

Cynthia Kyriazis

Productivity Coach

Cynthia Kyriazis, founder and president of Productivity Partners, Inc., serves as a Productivity Coach for the Garrett Planning Network. She is a leading provider of training in the topic areas of time, information and decision making management. Her company focuses on the principles, strategies and tasks which help decision-makers and their teams improve focus, execution and profitability.

Productivity Coach

Cynthia Kyriazis, founder and president of Productivity Partners, Inc., serves as a Productivity Coach for the Garrett Planning Network. She is a leading provider of training in the topic areas of time, information and decision making management. Her company focuses on the principles, strategies and tasks which help decision-makers and their teams improve focus, execution and profitability.

Kyriazis speaks nationally on organizing and time management strategies and has shared the stage with Barbara Bush, Jack Canfield and John Walsh. She is co-author of the book The Organized Communicator, creator of instructional CDs and instructor for a variety of topical Webinars.

Her credentials include past secretary on the Board of Directors for the National Association of Professional Organizers (NAPO), president of the Kansas City chapter of the International Society for Performance Improvement (KCISPI) and consultant to the American Coaching Association.